Awards Day at Heinsburg

The 2nd Annual Awards Day at Heinsburg Community School saw a total of 60 awards given out for outstanding accomplishments in the 1986-87 school year, in the fields of academic achievement, sports and citizenship.

The "sole survivor of a memorable year", Grade 9 student Kari Barstad, was presented with the one Perfect Attendance award for the year by Principal Laverne Wilson, who commended her on attending school on each of the 197 school days last year, in spite of the difficulties caused by construction upheavals.

Proficiency awards in Industrial Arts, Home Economics and Business Education were presented to students who display a positive attitude, make an extra effort, are competent and show high interest in the subject area. Industrial Arts recipients were Jerome Stanley, Gr. 7; Jason Gunderson and Kim Best, Gr. 8; Doyle Skolarchuk and Kari Barstad, Gr. 9; Jason Kinch, I.A. 10; Kirsten Vinge, I.A. 20 and Kevin Bristow, I.A. 30.

Home Economics awards went to Georgina Stanley, Gr. 7; Leroy Fryingpan, Gr. 8; Kari Barstad and Janice Blacklock, Gr. 9; Business Education award recipients were Twila Smith in Computer Processing 10; Wade Krider, Computer Processing 20; Sandra Womacks, Typing 10 and Josephine Dion, Typing 20.

Two members of one family won the Overall Average awards for Junior High grades, with final marks of 80 per cent or more in all core courses. Grade 8 student Kevin Blacklock accepted both his own award and that for his sister Janice, Grade 9, who is presently hospitalized in Edmonton following surgery.

The highest average in Grade 12 went to Calvin Labuik in the General Diploma course, and Patricia Goertzen in the Advanced Diploma program.

Numerous academic awards, for honor marks of 80 per cent or more in core subjects or for the most improvements in these subjects, were given, with recipients as follows: English/Language Arts - Kari Barstad, Gr. 9 honors; Wayne Daniels, Gr. 9, June LaBoucane, Eng. 20, Thomas Quinney, Eng. 23, Olga Collins,

Council approves power line

Town Council met Tuesday, October 13, due to the Thanksgiving holiday Monday, to discuss a variety of business.

The salaries of municipal employees are to be reviewed by the Finance/Personnel Committee, following the annual employee evaluation and appraisal in late October.

A one year maintenance contract on computer hardware was turned down, when Council decided that the $985 yearly fee is more than the Town would normally spend on the maintenance.

Council accepted a quote of $15,370 from Alberta Power for power installation to the recreational land, and directed the administration to contact Alberta Power for installation as soon as possible. The brushing contractors, Shamrock Valley Enterprises, were also to be advised that their work can get underway immediately. Cost of the installation is up more than $3000 from the first quote received, due to price raises since that time.

Councillor Allan Frankiw advised Council that the Chamber of Commerce has reimbursed the Town for the STEP payroll during the summer months, following the Chamber's receipt of STEP grant funding.

Outdoor ice rink under construction

An outdoor ice skating rink is under construction in Elk Point, thanks to the cooperation and generosity of businesses, groups and the Town of Elk Point.

The site, directly behind A.G. Ross Agri Centre, was surveyed by Eugene Bayduza of Elk Point, who is employed by Azimuthal Surveys, Edmonton. Jor-Ann Enterprises' Jake Orr supplied the necessary landscaping, while John Oryshchuk Trucking donated the loading and hauling of black dirt for the landscaping.

Elk Point and District Agricultural Society has indicated that they will donate the use of change rooms and washroom facilities for the outdoor skaters. The Town of Elk Point will provide water for flooding, while the Elk Point Volunteer Fire Department will help with flooding.

The project was initiated by the Elk Point Lions Club, with committee members Ron Johnson, Marshall Kachmar and Doug Bassett coordinating the construction. The Elk Point Recreation and Cultural Board is also involved in the planning.

The popularity of outdoor skating will be evaluated throughout the winter, with further upgrading next season if use warrants this.

Town Council meets

The Town accepted an offer by Nova Bee Pharmacy Ltd. to purchase an additional 25 feet of land north of their present auto centre development to allow additional large vehicle access to the tire shop portion.

A cheque for $10,000 was received by the Town as compensation for land used in widening Highway 41.

Costs of the street oiling program have been assessed at 55¢ per square meter, which includes the oil provided by the oil companies, the purchase of gravel and hiring equipment. This was found to be the least expensive possible alternative to provide dust-free streets for local travel.

The Town sent representatives to the Public Utilities Board hearing on the natural gas franchise. Council reviewed the franchise tax, and feel that it will not place too large a burden on anyone.

The Town's 1987 sidewalk program will be completed shortly, with just 125 feet between 54 Street and the lane adjacent to Heritage Lodge left to go.

Much needed street lighting on 51 Street north of the arena to 57 Avenue was discussed, and Alberta Power asked for a price on the installation of lights on existing poles.

Darrell Drouin, publisher of the Lakeland Review, met with Council to review a newspaper subscription agreement proposal. Under the contract, ratepayers would receive a subscription to the paper at the Town's expense, while the Town would receive a specified amount of advertising at no additional cost. The proposal was sent back to the Review for further negotiations, with no commitment made to date.

The hours of 4 p.m. to 7 p.m. were set for the "annual pilgrimage of little ghosties and goblins on Hallowe'en evening, Saturday, October 21, 1987."

DISTRICT DEPUTY VISITS — District Deputy Alice Hovelkamp of St. Paul is welcomed to the October meeting of the Elk Point OORP by Honored Royal Lady Jeannine Boratynec. D.D. Hovelkamp was accompanied by three other members of the St. Paul lodge on her visit.

Seniors' steering report

We haven't disappeared under all the data or run away to hide because of all the complications involved in such a survey of this magnitude but we are advancing slowly.

The responses to the questionnaires that were returned from our volunteer interviewers were then tranferred onto computer answer sheets. The computer work was a long complicated procedure producing charts ready for a consultant to review and write up the reports from this information.

At this time, the committee would like to thank all the volunteer help and interviewers who worked on this project. Without all their assistance this project would not have been possible.

Hopefully by the end of this year the reports will be finalized and printed.

Flu vaccine time again

As in previous years, the Provincial Government is providing free influenza vaccine to cover all persons 65 years and over and other persons at high risk if they contract flu. Dr. Clarkson, Medical Officer of Health, said that other high risk groups as well as the elderly and patients of all ages with chronic heart or chest disease requiring regular medical attention, diabetes, cancer, renal disease, immune disorders. In addition children with hemoglobin disorders or who have been on aspirin therapy for a prolonged time are also at high risk.

All persons 65 years and over can be vaccinated through their local health unit office. The health unit will also arrange for all persons in nursing homes and lodges to be vaccinated. Community health nurses will also vaccinate anyone at high risk if they obtain a prescription from their family physician.

Dr. Clarkson emphasized that immunization offers the best protection against flu. Persons eligible for vaccination should get vaccinated before mid-November before the flu season starts.

While there are no indications to suggest that this year the outbreak of influenza will be particularly severe, Dr. Clarkson urges senior citizens and others at particular risk to make sure they get vaccinated since flu and its complications can be life threatening among high risk groups.

Vaccination clinic times will be on October 28 (9 - 12 noon, 1 - 4 p.m.) and on November 4 (9 - 12 noon, 1 - 4 p.m.) at the Health Unit in Elk Point.

1987, at 7:00 p.m. at the

OLD COURT HOUSE, ELK POINT

All members are asked to attend!!

Pool sponsors Farm Finance Forum

Farmers are being encouraged to participate in the Farm Finance Forum, a series of four meetings sponsored by Alberta Pool, which will seek answers to the worsening farm debt problem.

Alberta Pool feels it's time several promising farm credit alternatives developed by government and industry were taken to the farm level. "What better place to go for answers to farm problems than to farmers themselves," says President Doug Livingstone.

Alberta Pool hopes to spark a useful discussion on the following possible solutions to the farm credit crisis: equity financing; vendor financing; income averaging trust account; debt setaside; and variable payment loans. If farmers have additional farm-finance related topics they wish to raise they will be encouraged to join the discussion.

Speakers from Alberta Pool, the Farm Credit Corporation, Unifarm, and the Alberta Cattle Commission will prompt the discussion in the morning and President Doug Livingstone and several Pool directors and delegates will be on hand to listen to farmers' ideas and concerns in the afternoon.

At the conclusion of the meeting, farmers will have the opportunity to complete a questionnaire that will identify the popularity of the various farm finance alternatives that will be discussed.

The meeting locations and dates are:

- Oct. 28, Fairview, Dunvegan Inn.
- Oct. 29, Andrew, Community Hall.
- Nov. 5, Stettler, United Church Auditorium.
- Nov. 6, Coaldale, Sportsplex.

All meetings will begin at 10 a.m. and a lunch will be provided.

The meetings are open to the public and all farmers are invited to work with Alberta Pool to better manage the farm debt crisis.

Parties organizing for new riding

By Bill Deleeuw
Staff Writer

With the possibility of the new federal Beaver River riding to open by July of next year, the three major parties have or will be setting agendas in order to form associations and select candidates for the riding.

While the New Democrat party has not set a deadline for organizing an association for the riding, the Progressive Conservatives reported that an association will come into being by March first and the Liberals will be having an inaugural meeting on Oct. 22 in St. Paul.

"There will be a formation of new executives and directors," who will be looking for a new candidate, George Michaud, president of the Vegreville Liberal Association, said last Thursday.

St. Paul, presently in the Vegreville constituency, will fall under the new Beaver River riding.

He said there are several people who were interested in being candidates, adding he was not in the position to release names unless he is made president of the association for the new riding.

However, "I don't think we have to look too hard because there seems to be quite a few people that are going to run."

"We're getting our redistribution executives organized," John Chomiak, P.C. campaign organizing chairman for northern Alberta for the next federal election, said last Thursday.

"Out of 295 constituencies, only 20 stay intact across Canada, so its a massive job to get this all straightened out as far as concerns to executives.

He said the "founding meetings and the organizations" will be completed by March 1, 1988.

Despite the deadline, "I think you'll see an association, I'm hoping, before the year is out."

Chomiak said a potential candidate for the constituency cannot be named at present because, with the shifting constituencies, "incumbents get priority," and, until these people make a choice, candidates looking at ridings have to wait.

Although one or two responses have come from the Bonnyville area, no one in the St. Paul area has expressed any interest in running for the New Democrats, Brian Labrie, president of the Vegreville New Democrat Association riding, said last Thursday.

He said there will be a meeting this week to elect delegates to go to the New Democrat convention in November, adding "we will be discussing" the issue of the new riding.

If an election is called before July 14, 1988, then the existing boundaries are still in effect, but if an election is called after this date, the new boundaries will be used.

Multicultural education

A Professional Development and Multicultural Education Council Conference is expected to draw close to 1,000 educators and resource people to St. Paul next week.

The three-day conference, Oct. 28, 30 and 31, with the theme of "The Possible Dream: Building a Canadian Heritage", will centre around multiculturalism in this coutry, highlighting the importance of culture in our everyday lives.

"By showing the value of culture and multiculturalism we can generate enthusiasm amongst the teachers and that enthusiasm will be reflected in their approach in school," Raymond Lamoureux, president of the conference planning committee, said Tuesday.

Teachers from five ATA locals (Medley, Lakeland, St. Paul, Smoky Lake and Two Hills) will be involved in the conference in addition to about 35 resource people and another 150 or so educators from across the province.

Close to 50 different sessions and workshops will be presented covering all facets of multiculturalism: immigrant children, native education, racism and anti-semitism in Alberta, cross-cultural counselling, cultural dissonance, reaching out to new Canadian students, alcohol and the minorities, the multicultural approach to citizenship and educating the total child and many others.

Keynote speakers include Dr. Joh Kehoe, a nationally known author and speaker on multiculturalism from British Columbia, who will open the conference Thursday evening with an address entitled: Culture - An essential element in all human growth. Friday morning will begin with an adress from Marc Arnal: Preparing Children for Citizenship: A Challenge for Teachers.

"He will challenge the teachers and press on them Canadian values," Lamoureux said.

Shall 'Gandhi' Sinah will be the guest speaker at Friday's banquet. Dressed as Ghandi, he will be speaking on the positive approaches of Ghandi, the unity of cultures, brotherhood and the unity of the human race. Alberta Education Minister Nancy Betkowski will be at the conference Saturday morning speaking on the cultural needs of Alberta students.

"Multiculturalism is part of our Canadian values. There's going to be a lot said about multiculturalism because our country is multicultural," Lamoureux said.

"It is a very large conference and it is unique in that it is the first time that we have exposed teachers to multiculturalism in general. We want to make sure teachers understand the value of culture. If there's a lack of awareness, then there's a lack of interest."

RecCulture Board meet

The regular monthly meeting of the Municipal Recreation and Cultural Board was held on Wednesday, October 7. Mr. Barry Romanko, Regional Recreation Consultant, from St. Paul and Mr. Bill Kacey, the manager of the Field Services Division of Alberta Recreation were on hand to introduce the development of recreational structures. Mr. Romanko explained programs that are at present adapted to the facilities of our community and also explained that Elk Point is very broad in recreational aspects which stretch into many different fields.

Mr. Romanko also explained the purpose of a recreational board, which he said will take time to establish in Elk Point as it is very young with very little roots to support it.

Mr. John Dahmer was also a guest for the evening and briefed the board on how Lakeland College could play a role in the developing of recreational programs in Elk Point.

The next meeting will be on Wednesday, November 4.

Too close

A plunging stock market, plummeting in one day as far as in the two worst days of the 1929 Great Cash ... American warships attacking Iranian offshore rigs in the Persian Gulf ... Farm families leaving land they have held for generations ...

Shades of decades past.

October 29, 1929, the infamous "Black Tuesday", saw investors leaping from windows as their stocks dropped out of sight. That crash caused many banks to fail, and their depositors to lose their savings, because in those days, the banks were allowed to invest in stocks, and there was no insurance on bank deposits.

Late October of 1962 saw the U.S. wrangling with Cuba in probably the scariest situation North Americans have known since the Second World War.

Miniscule grain prices in the 1930's sent farmers further in debt each year, until many packed what little they had left and fled to the cities in search of a job, any job.

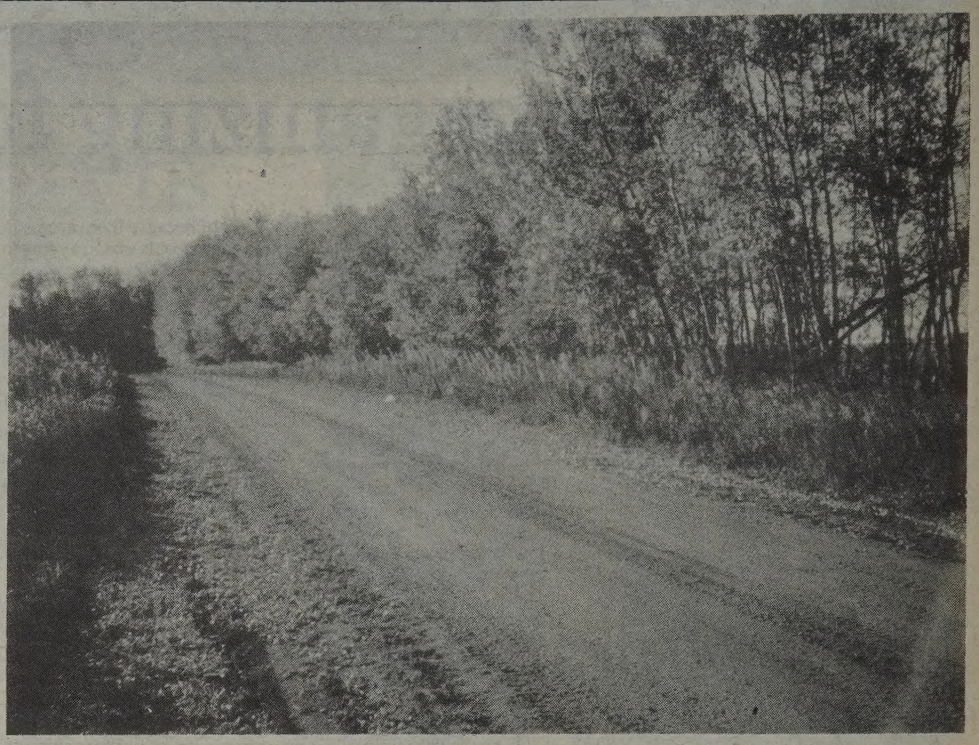
The stock market means little to many of us, who would invest any spare cash we had in groceries and a full tank of furnace oil for the winter, and whose bank deposits aren't above the second digit at the best of times.

The Persian Gulf is a long way away, and the missiles aren't pointed in our direction ... yet.

The farmers have farm debt review boards and rural transition programs on their side, and oats have gone up a few bucks per tonne this week.

And after all, history can't repeat itself ...

Can it?



I HAD TO DRIVE ALL OVER THE COUNTRY TO FIND A ROADSIDE — Featuring trees and beauty, rather than plain dirt, weeds and desert. It seems that SOME of us would appreciate driving down a tree-lined trail — so please leave some for us.

Mural watch

By Billie Milholland

Since the mural cannot be erected until spring, we are using winter as an opportunity to test our method of fastening the panels to the pipes. So when you see two or three panels hanging out there in the winter wind, don't be dismayed. They are not the mural, merely valiant guinea pigs which will ensure that the methods we have chosen to fasten the artwork to the main support structure are adequate for the project.

A big thanks to Amoco for the donation of the pipe casings and to Holthe Foundations Ltd., Grand Centre, for work done to put up the pipe, at the mural site.

Thanks also to Margaret Lyttle who remembers the visits that "Wop" May paid to her family out in Stoney Lake during the days he came barnstorming to Elk Point.

And for those of you who have come by to ask ... "Who the heck was "Wop" May, anyway?" ...

Wilfrid Reid May, known to his friends as "Wop", was an airman from Manitoba who met many Elk Point boys during the 1st World War. He was the airman who was being pursued by the notorious "Red Baron" on that fateful day in April of 1918 when the "Baron" was shot down. Wop May could have become the Baron's 81st victim but instead, he went on to become one of Canada's foremost bush flyers and great entertainment for our fathers and grandfathers at Elk Point's Sports Days for many summers.

Thanks for the great picture of Paul Stepa cutting hair. I still need pictures of other business people. Who has one of any of the dray men, implement dealers, early hardware store manager and Co-op store managers? I am sketching the 30's, 40's and 50's now so I am out of ancient times and into the middle ages here in Elk Point.

Alberta Trails

Our changing trails

By Irene Magnusson

The North wind doth blow and we shall have snow, no doubt-if not today, then tomorrow or tomorrow. And while the robins I know have more sense than to hide their heads under their wings, poor things (they head for the deep south!) we who are native to this land and linger here the year round will be readying our homes and ourselves for winter.

Garden stuff in, leaves all raked (ha ha), storm windows on and - for some - the woodpile up. For farmers and ranchers - bales long since in their fat rows, grain in the bins, cattle in from the range. If we are wise, we will have winterized the vehicles, dug out the snow boots, located the snow shovels, serviced the snowblowers - and paid our gas bills. We KNOW it will soon be cold out there. And white.

Around Elk Point, while there may not have been the "oil boom" of a few years ago, there has certainly been plenty of activity. A drive down through the oil patch south of the river has startled my eyes and mind once again with the vast numbers of tanks and wells and pumps and whatchamacallits all over the place. A brand new road, still reeking of oil, stretches black and shiny from the pavement of No. 41, cradled as all new roads are nowadays in its own private desert, where all vegetation has been removed, all character of the land abolished, hills and vales all rolled into a sameness. Perhaps, one day, there will be grass seeded, which in turn will be mowed, and so to some, this will present a very neat tidy road, a method of getting from here to there.

Gone forever is the character and face of our land, the wild flowers which once graced these humps and swales. gone forever any small wild life that once lived in the burrows, bushes or trees along this way.

Of course there is no use to regret this fact. Progress, as it is called, will have its way. Now the trucks and loads of machinery and equipment will pass easily to and fro, no longer stirring clouds of dust, endangering lives with the poor visibility, filling the farm homes with grime. At least - for a few years. I see some other roads, which were hard and black not too long ago are now returned to rough and dusty. Nothing lasts forever, and some things not long at all.

Right in the town of Elk Point a great deal of road or street building has gone on this past summer. And we've read of the great costing and the years it will take to pay for it all. But we in Elk Point (or near it) deserve good streets and roads, too, and for certain the appearance this fall is vastly different from a year or so ago.

To the west the LRWT (Lousy road west of town) has been given the old heave-ho. With a giant yank they have pulled the itty-bitty chunk of pavement layed down for Trailer City last year right up to the half-mile corner, thus cutting the dust-boil all the way down. However, I think they pulled too hard, stretched it too thin - for already there are lumps and bald spots showing through. Oh, well, we can't have everything, and a little is better than nothing - mostly.

Still on Elk Point's re-roading and re-streeting projects - were the deep gullies alongside the streets meant to save on culverts? Some of us DO have to use the alleys, and driveways, and it is nerve-wracking, to say the least, to feel the rear end of your car dragging on the road when going on or off the main streets. And when the back end of my car falls off - I will probably ask the town for a refill. Anyway, not to be complaining always, we all think there have been vast improvements, and hurrah for them all.

Still on the 'changing trails' theme - couldn't you road-makers consider leaving some roads completely alone? It would be SO nice to know there is still a few miles of undestroyed bush, wildflowers and scenery left in the country, with just a little winding trail we could drive along some sunny afternoon, when we are not hell-for-leather going anyplace, just driving around? It seems to me other parts of the country have roads like that. I've been on them. So why can't we? Believe me, there IS pleasure to be found along a coutry trail, if you could just keep those destructive bulldozers OUT of there. You can also keep those axe/chainsaw-toting brushcutters out of there in the winter too. If the tree MUST be cut - take it off at ground level, NOT two or three feet high, the ugliest possible thing that can be perpetrated along a roadside.

So now, all together, repeat after me: "Let us resolve to keep a little bit of the beautiful in our Alberta." And start with leaving a few roadsides unshaved, bald and naked. Trees and flowers look so much nicer - and, yes, we can live with them there.

OORP arthritis blitz

Mrs. Jeanine Boratynec will chair The Arthritis Society's Community Mail Campaign and Business Canvass to raise funds in Elk Point, it was announced today.

Mrs. Boratynec heads a group of volunteers from the Order of the Royal Purple who will mail a special envelope to residences and will contact the businesses as they did last year. "Funds are needed to support research to acquire and to distribute knowledge about all forms of arthritis".

"Every dollar collected during our drive for funds will go for research," said Mrs. Boratynec. "Much of wha is known today has come throug observation and treatment of ar thritis patients," Mrs. Boratynec said, speaking of The Society's research program. "Society-funded clinical reseach has resulted in better methods and higher standards of treatment, but ultimate success in determining the underlying causes and subsequent cures will only come through an expanded basic science research effort."

"The prospects for early success now hinge directly upon the funds available from the public. Now there are research workers, and they are interested. We must assure them of adequate support for their projects."

"Arthritis strikes one family out of every three. Almost everyone knows someone close to him/her who is affected with some form of arthritis. This Community Mail Campaign and Business Canvass gives each of us the opportunity to help these friends and relatives."

Elk Point Library news

By Lena Stepa
Publicity

As we say goodbye to summer and prepare ourselves for another prairie winter we can go a long way toward vanquishing the cold weather blues by going to the warm library and signing out some books. How about a craft book? We have a large selection to choose from. We have The Book of Flower Preserving, The Needlepoint Book, Let's Knot (macrame), The Encyclopedia of Stitchery. We have many Christmas craft books and magazines including woodworking projects and things for kids to make. And what about Hallowe'en? We've got the books with the ideas. Drop by, talk with our friendly staff and find a book.

Our second anniversary celebration and our book fair were a success thanks to all of you out there. Thanks from the staff and the library board members for your support.

Raffle winner

The Elk Point and District Gun Club has announced the winner of their recent raffle, on which the draw was made October 3. Holder of the lucky ticket was Murray Fowler of Grand Centre.

Engagement Announcement

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Soldan and Mr. and Mrs. Emil Mudryk are pleased to announce the engagement of their children, Margaret & Brent. Wedding to take place April 9, 1988.

Thank You

On behalf of the Ukrainian Greek Catholic Parishes of Northern Valley and Angle Lake, we would like to thank all the people who supported us and made our Supper a "great success". Also our sincere thanks to all the Ladies for their help.

God Bless You All!

THANK YOU

We would like to take this opportunity to thank all the Moosewa Cemetery Members who were so kind in contributing their share of work in helping straighten up Carol's grave.

In the dark

Alberta Power Limited is still trying to understand exactly what happened and why 47,000 customers in east central Alberta found themselves in the dark Sept. 29.

Alberta Power spokesman Bobbi Lambright said they now know the problem originated at the Nevis substation just west of Stettler. A shutdown on a line there somehow triggered a chain reaction resulting in the widespread blackout.

"The bottom line is that the system over-reacted and triggered a chain of events. We're still investigating the reason why the system reacted as it did," Lambright said.

The power went off Sept. 29 at about 9 a.m. but was back on in many areas by noon.

Good weather for old-fashioned harvest

The good old days returned to the Leaf farm recently, as many enjoyed a threshing bee.

By Shirley Osinchuk

On Sunday, Oct. 11, the weather was ideal for harvesting - sunny warm and windy. Deanna and Harry Leaf had invited everyone to a threshing bee at their home on Secondary Road 640. Harry started his McCormick-Deering 1932 tractor with the help of a friend on the crank. Gina and Lakewind pulled up to the threshing machine with a load of bundles of wheat, and Gary Yarmuch and Marshall Malachowski started pitching. A load of young spectators was waiting for a ride on the rack back to where the rest of the 400 bundles (in stooks) waited to be loaded.

The Case threshing machine had a sign on the side, almost illegible now, that listed its patent dates as Dec. 23, 1919, and Feb. 10, 1920. It had a 40 inch cylinder and 62 inch separator. A steamer had been used to run it when Harry's father first bought and used it. Twelve teams hauled in the bundles, with four men spiking into the machine and two field pitchers. When the McCormick-Deering tractor replaced the steamer, eight teams would bring the bundles to the threshing machine.

Well over one hundred people came to watch the threshing, then they were treated to coffee and cake on the lawn near the house.

4-H on the move

By Adele Reichert
Regional 4-H Specialist

4-H Awareness Nights are Coming Your Way.

"Come on out and find out all about what you can get out of 4-H". That is how the promotional flyers read for a series of 4-H workshops being held this fall.

The idea of the evenings are to help get 4-H families particularly adults and senior members geared up for a new club year. Two different sessions will be happening at some time.

One session is designed primarily for the leaders and parents. It will include discussions on what makes up a successful 4-H year. This will include information on the 4-H philosophy, understanding the 4-H system and where you fit in and more about programs and opportunities for members and leaders.

At the same time a separate session will be taking place for the senior members. This session is being presented by teams of ex-4-H members who are now attending Lakeland College. This group which calls themselves the 4-H Resource Bank has laid out a full evening of information on a series of topics. These include camps and special programs, the Junior Leader Project and a look at a variety of 4-H projects and just generally how to get the most out of your 4-H year.

This series of workshops are being held at six different locations throughout the region. They are being hosted by the local District Councils in these six areas. Anyone who would like more information on these topics or just has general 4-H questions they'd like answered is welcome to attend.

October 27, Two Hills Provincial Building - 7:30 p.m.

November 2, Bonnyville Provincial Building - 7:00 p.m.

If you'd like more details contact your local District Home Economist or your club leader.

Those of you who are looking for a more in-depth day of 4-H leader training should circle December 5 on your calendar. That is the date of the annual Northeast Regional 4-H Forum. It is being held in Vermilion this year at St. Jerome's School from 9:00 a.m. to 5:30 p.m.

The planning committee has designed a well rounded day of workshops all within the theme of "Gather Your Tools for a Successful 4-H Year". Select-a-sessions are sessions are designed for newer and experienced leaders alike. There is also a special Junior Leadership Workshop aimed at members who think they might be interested in taking on this project.

Again this year the committee is sponsoring a "Participation Challenge". Why not recruit a couple of carloads from your club to come. Who knows, maybe your club will go home with one of the participation prizes!

Clandonald News

By Shirley Osinchuk

Three soccer players were unavailable for the team photo in last week's Lakeland Review. They were Jeremy Rybchinsky, Chris Kent and Marvin Garnier, all on the Bees.

Next week is Small Business Week. In Clandonald we have the businesses that have their stores or shops on the main streets, where you may buy hardware, gifts, groceries, fuel and oil, rent movies or have your hair done, arrange for construction, destruction, corral cleaning, or have your car, truck, tractor or lawn mower repaired, then pick up your mail. There are also small business people who are not so obvious, from whom you may order Avon cosmetics and jewelry, Watkins products, until recently Tupperware, have tailoring or alterations done, or order pantyhose. There are others who offer a service at different times, like baking and cake decorating, housecleaning or babysitting. Next week and in the future, support your local business people, who are also your friends and neighbours.

Congratulations to Clandonald students who have been honoured at awards presentations recently. At St. Jerome's in Vermilion on Friday, Oct. 9, Jennifer Kurash received the award for highest academic standing in Grade 10, with Janice DeFord the runner-up. Both also received Honour Pins.

Phil Lawrence had the highest academic standing in Grade 11 and the French 30 award. He and Tammi Rewuski received Honour Pins. Carol Lawrence received the Home Economics 30 award and Ken Lawrence received the Phys. Ed. 30 award and a crest for his achievement in track and field.

At Heinsburg Community School, Roger Osinchuk was among the many award winners, with honours in Math 10, Physics 10 and Social 10.

The annual Awards Night at Clandonald School was held on Wed., Oct. 14. Highest Academic Standing for Grade 7 was presented by Frank Molineux for Frank's Shell to Sarah Osinchuk, with Kevin Kurash as runner-up. Stan Stafford of the Clandonald Hardware presented the trophy for Highest Academic Standing in Grade 8 to Katherine Martin, with runner-up, Kim Rewuski. Bryan Thomas received the award for Highest Academic Standing in Grade 9 from Dever DeFord for the Knights of Columbus. Tammy DeFord was the runner-up.

General Proficiency awards went to Kevin Kurash for Grade 7, with Melanie Trach and Amanda Cusack as runners-up with Lawrence Parchewsky of Lakeland Glass presenting the trophy; Angie Nelson for Grade 8, Marie Lawrence runner-up, presented by Ken Lawrence of Ken's Service; and Tammy DeFord, with runner-up Bryan Thomas for Grade 9, presented by Dever DeFord for D & E DeFord.

Most Improved Student, presented by Matt Harasiuk for the Clandonald Seed Cleaning Plant went to Christina Garnier, with runner-up, Jason Trach.

Angus Smith, standing in for Clarence Goldsmith, for the County of Vermilion River, presented Honour Pins to Katherine Martin, Angie Nelson, Kim Rewuski and Susan Thomas for Grade 8, and Tammy DeFord and Bryan Thomas for Grade 9. Mr. Smith complemented staff and parents on the excellent school we have, and congratulated all those who have excelled in their school work.

Other presentations that rounded out the evening were the musical numbers by Grades 3 to 6, Grades 1 and 2 (including the red, hairy monster) and the Junior High girls.

Proud grandparents announcing a new baby are Rose and Alfred Stanley, whose daughter Ruby and husband Ken Pankiw, had a daughter on Oct. 2. Chynna Rae's other grandpa, Mike Pankiw, lives in Elk Point.

Then on Oct. 9, Marj and Willie Osinchuk became grandparents for the first time, when their daughter Sharen and her husband Bruce Stein had a daughter, Jamie Jennifer. Latest report was that all grandparents are doing fine.

We change back to Mountain Standard Time at 2 a.m., Sunday, Oct. 25. Clocks go back one hour.

The Landonville Hallowe'en party starts at 7 p.m. on Friday, Oct. 30, at the Landonville Hall. Coffee and donuts will be served. There will be games, cake raffle, jelly bean guess, bobbing for apples, as well as prices for the three best costumes. Put on your funny face and come.

Operator fined

A guilty plea in Bonnyville Provincial Court by a man who attempted to establish a food bank in the area netted him a $25 fine earlier this month.

Les Davey, president of the Lakeland Food and Emergency Assistance Society pled guilty to a charge under the Public Contributions Act for not having the proper licensing needed to solicit the public for cash donations.

The proposed food bank was to have been based in Bonnyville and provide assistance to those within a 60-mile radius of the town including St. Paul, Grand Centre, Elk Point and communities in between. Food and cash collection boxes had been set up in these communities but have since been removed and it now appears the food bank proposal has been abandoned by the group.

Dewberry News

By Phyllis Ewen

Dorsey and Marilyn Butz and family moved into their new home September 24, the former Frank Mead place. Prior to moving a lot of hard work was spent renovating and painting.

As a representative for the Village of Dewberry on the Vermilion Valley Lodge Board, Gertrude Blacklock attended the annual meeting of the Northern Zone of Alberta Senior Citizens Homes Association held at Gibbons, Alberta, on October 9.

Bob Oram and Buddy Bensmiller travelled to Winnipeg on October 8. They visited Bob's mother Lila Tait and attended a horse sale. The weather: snow, winds, drifts between Winnipeg and Brandon.

Home for the Thanksgiving weekend from the University of Alberta and Alberta College were Trudy Holmen, David Whiteside, Kimberley Blacklock, and Todd and Tammy Robinson.

Robert and Brenda Hamer and children from Hinton were visiting the Blacklock families for Thanksgiving.

Helen Connon greatly enjoyed her sister Edna Baker's two week visit. Thanks to the loan of a car, much sightseeing and visiting was done. Edna's home is in the Redford Township, Michigan. Edna works as a registered nurse.

We wish Marie Ritt a speedy recovery after having surgery in Edmonton, recently.

Volunteer help is still needed at the Edmonton Emergency Relief Centre. They are in the process of consolidating donations into one location for the families affected by the tornado. They need people to pack, load and move 2.5 million pounds of goods at the end of October. Are you willing to help?

A stone cairn has been erected in the park in the S.E. division with a tablet to be in place in the near future. It will be known as the Sidney M. Blair Memorial Park in recognition of the generosity of the late Sidney M. Blair by which the park became a reality. The stone work was done by Rod Pashniak of Lloydminster and the tablet is being purchased through George Crooker of Vermilion.

On September 30, Leo and Mary Kinshella travelled 560 miles northwest to Tumble Ridge, B.C., to visit their son Blaine and family. Blaine is employed at the Quinette Coal Mine as a millwright.

Lee and Alice Jones spent Thanksgiving with their daughter Linda and Cordell Weber and family at Grande Prairie.

Wally Rauser, Isabel Horpestad, Rick, Jude and Olga Rewuski travelled to Bill Holmen's farm, 7 miles north and 2 miles east of Dewberry, where Mr. Holmen gave them a first class tour of his antique machinery. There were old trucks, John Deere and Massey Harris tractors and an ancient threshing machine, perhaps older than Mr. Holmen himself. All the machinery was in good working condition. He would pull a string here, a wire there, open up the hood, adjust a few bolts, put his foot on the starter and after a few bangs and clangs, the motor would roar into motion.

Inside the museum, one saw antiques such as the washing machine, butter churn, etc. Some of the creations were self-made which were very interesting and often amusing.

Mr. Holmen, who is eighty years of age, going on fifty, does his own baking and cooking. He served his guests coffee and doughnuts which were delicious! With Mr. Holmen's friendly smile and delightful sense of humor, the guests spent a most pleasant Sunday afternoon.

Soup time!

SILVER BARN AUCTION

BILL HOLMEN, 80 YEARS OLD — With his homemade bread. Note stove with two ovens.

Hazardous waste. Removing it from view does not remove it from our world.

Every year, Alberta generates some 90 000 tonnes of hazardous wastes. These are the "special" wastes produced by industry, agriculture, hospitals, laboratories and households which cannot be disposed of by conventional means. Unless specially managed and treated, they pose a potential threat to our land, our water, the very air we breathe.

Until now, these wastes have proved a complex problem. Some have been treated by the generating industries on their own sites. Others have been stored or exported. Still others have been improperly dumped.

Now, Alberta has a better way. A province-wide system for safe analysis, collection, transportation and disposal. And, near Swan Hills, the most advanced special waste treatment centre in North America. This comprehensive program is more than a precaution for the health of our environment. It's a moral commitment to future generations.
